CAYLORD, BLESSING & CO., 307 Olive St., St. Louis, Mo. ple's Gas, which sold down on attacks from the Municipal Company and the Ogden people, and railled on the oversold state of the market, and the usual stories of a settlement of the gas war. The Municipal company seems to have been floated for the purpose of coercing the People's company into buying it at a price out of all proportion to its real value.

In the meantime, the operators behind the deal have apparently some inside connection with the threatened company, and have sold stock short to bring pressure upon its shareholders.

It is probably one of the most unscrupulous deals that the market has seen since the time when Mr. Havemeyer juggled with Sugar, and, by all showing, People's Gas stock should so lower. It seems to be an excellent stock for respectable speculators to let alone.

People's Gas Deal Was the Week's Sensation in New York Stock Market.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL New York, Oct. 13.—To-day's stock market was marked by a cautious opening, due to the general anticipation of a bad bank statement, and a strong close on the publication of a good one. Stocks moved more or less on the short interest, and the outside buying was almost a negligible quantity. People's Gas showed the strength it had exhibited in the past two days, and the buying in Northern Pacific was credited to the Morgan influence. The rest of the market more or less followed suit, and was only checked by the fact that the short interest was practically limited to the room.

This week has seen a remarkable restoration in confidence, which, coming in the face of dearer money, is all the more noticeable. Wall street has evidently made up its mind that McKiniey will be elected. Money has been a very important factor in the week's trading, and the United States, as the great credit mation of the present day, has shown its ability to protect itself by drawing gold. Wall street has evidently made up its mind that McKinley will be elected. Money has been a very important factor in the week's trading, and the United States, as the great credit nation of the present day, has shown its ability to protect itself by drawing gold from London, Paris and Berlin.

The outflow for the movement of cropp has, of courac, been large, but with money at little better than 3 per cent in the room. White has been nothing approaching present itself by drawing gold its better than 3 per cent in the room. The market, with so trifling an account open, how anything like the long anticlipated election scarc could be engineered, although, of course, there are sufficient outside candiderations to make even the bold-set operator cautious.

It is difficult to see in the present state of although, of course, there are sufficient outside candiderations to make even the bold-set operator cautious.

It is worthy of note, however, that it has been worth the while of J. P. Morgan & C. Do. 196 (200 pp. 196 pp. 19

The Banks.

An Active Week Experienced in the Local Market-Outlook Bright.

St. Louis, Saturday, Oct. E. 1990.

The week in local finances closing to-day has been encouraging in many ways. Business in all departments of tanking has been active, and the outlook is considered by bankers and others as exceedingly bright. Deposits in the different banks here have been large all through the week, and a decidely firmer tendency has been shown. There has been and excellent demand for money, but so far it has had no apparent effect upon the deposits, and the supply of money continues more than small to meet all demands upon it. Banks, however, in a number of cases have been pretty well loaned up, rates were held firm, and, while showing a rising tendency, have not changed quotably, atth ranging from 5 to 7 per cent in the extremes for all and time paper. The demand from mercuntile and manufacturing sources and also from the country has been excellent all the week, and a fair amount of money has been taken by grain and cotton men. In a rootine way business at the various institutions has been both large and active.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 13 .- With all the incentive of an advance in wheat at Liverpool. indicating perfect willingness there to follow the lead of the Chicago speculators, bulls here, instead of adding to their previous day's purchases, sold out what they had bought the day before. The weather was affording farmers every encouragement to market their crop, and from the number of selling orders on the market from the Northwest immediately at the opening, it looked like an anticipation of an increased movement. Liverpool quoted futures from 3d to 5d higher, and Paris made no change in Friday's figures. Minneapolis and Duluth received 486 cars, as compared with 573 the Saturday preceding and let the corresponding day of the day previous. Receipts for the week at the two places mentioned were 46 carloads more than on the week before and 597 cars less than received the corresponding week of Chicago got 200 cars, as against 160 last year. The world's shipments of wheat and flour to Europe this week were estimated to amount to 8,000,000 bu, or over, or about the same as on the two preceding weeks. Beerbohm expected the quantity on ocean passage would show about 1,500,000 bu, increase for the week, and local statisticians were talking of a probable 1,000,000 bu, in-crease in domestic visible. No important change occurred. The market was rather duil, interest was lacking and the trade was very light. Trading confined to cash and Oct. delivery. A cent over yesterday's quotation was touched, but there was a reaction. Shorts seem to have covered. For deferred deliveries there was a lack of demand. It was a slow, duil, yet not materially changed market. Local movement small; 20 cars, or 15:000 bu. received, and 3 cars, or 2,355 bu., taken. Minneapolis receipts 77 cars and Duluth 22 cars. Provisions.

The provisions market was decidedly heavy, and from the pressure of offerings of everything but Oct. pork, it looked as it the traders in hog products had been overcome with a loss of memory for all the bullish features of the business that had been daily recited during the previous advance. Not a whisper could be heard of the great consumptive demand for lard and meats or of the unprecedentedly small stocks of everything which it had been said made selling short a hazardous risk. The common talk in the pit was that Armour & Co. was a seller in great volume, as the same firm had been credited with doing ever since last week. Local hog receipts were 17,000 head, and the Western aggregate to-day was 41,250, against 37,500 the same day of the previous year. Packing at Chicago to date was 3,90,000, as compared with 2,855,000 the like period of the previous season. Estimated local receipts for Monday were $6,000 head, and for next week 175,000 head. Liverpool reported declines of 6d each in short clear backs and hams, and of 3d reduction in lard. The day's losses here were in Jan. pork, 29; Oct. lard, 25c; Jan. lard, 15c; Oct. ribs, 25c; and Jan. ribs, 19c.

WEAKNESS AGAIN THE CHIEF FEATURE IN GRAIN.

THE WORST OF IT.

On the Other Hand, They Have Been More Successful in Coarser

Grains, Especially Corn.

Office Republic, Saturday, Oct. 13, 1990. The bulls have received another blow to their hopes and at the close of the week to-day were more than ever discouraged ulative grains, and in particular with the bull side of wheat, which has proven a feeling developed, and which in a great measure has characterized the speculative situation all through the week up to Friday, was one of undeniable weakness, there edly ever being a redeeming feature to age the hopes of those who still continue friendly disposed to the long side There was little or nothing about the general situation that could be considered as encouraging from a buil standpoint. There was no well-defined support, and the difof very little recuperative powers, there be ing few recoveries in price, and those that were brought about were generally insignificant and unstable, seidom lasting through the daily session. Even last Friday's expected buige, which sent prices upstarply and greatly encouraged traders, turned out to be a disappointment, the markets the very next day breaking and losing almost as much as they had gained the day before. Throughout the week liquidation has been freely and heavily indulged in, and the trend of prices during most of the time has been almost uninterruptedly towards a lower level, with the result that the bigher priced cereal has lost largery. the higher priced cereal has lost largely, but corn, which was better maintained all the week, showed a good, substantial gain.

Cables during the week, as usual, have favored one side as much as the other and were of little benefit to either builts or hears. There was a very good cash business developed, and particularly toward the close, and the outward movement from the scabord for the week, compared with the week before and the corresponding week a year aso, showed up cheouragingly, though they did not exceed them. The receipts at spring and winter wheat markets showed no increase of significance at any time, but the shipments were heavy. Bradstreet's issued a builtsh statement on the world's visible supply, which decreased 731,000 bu., whereas, a year ago it increased over 5,000,000 bu. The available east of the Continental markets were generally better.

There was more well-sustained firmness shown by the speculative corn market during the week than by any other grain, but aside from this the situation was almost featureless. There was little to encourage speculation, wheat being the most attractive grain, and meet of the time the market was slow and dragging, price variations being generally narrow and far apart, no change of importance taking place until Friday, when the monotony of the market was broken by a most decided change for the beter and an advance of over 1c went on record. This, however, was followed to-day by a let-down of $\frac{1}{2}$ for all months, yet the close of the week showed a very substantial and encouraging gain all round, Oct. closing $\frac{1}{2}$ better, at $25\times$ co. being quoted $\frac{1}{2}$ $\frac{1}{2}$ be the end of the week showed a very substantial and encouraging gain all round, Oct. closing $\frac{1}{2}$ better, at $25\times$ co. being quoted $\frac{1}{2}$ $\frac{1}{2}$ $\frac{1}{2}$ be the end of the week were pretty much the whole thing in this grain, and were bearish, being generally reported fine, with gathering going on rapidly. Still, the movement to primary markets was small and there were no indications of an increase. The visible supply showed only a small increase, but the amount affoat fell off some. Bradstreer's also reported an increase in the available supplies. One of the principal influences and which led up to the bulge of Friday, was the Government report, showing a reduction in crop conditions the condition on the last of the present month 78.2, and indicating a total yield of not over 1957.00,000 bu., or 120,000,000 bu. less than last year. The export movement from the Atlantic and Gulf ports was larger than those of last week, but fell of lat kinds was scarce, about the only important information received being the Government report, which indicated a crop of $10.000,000 bu., which is 16.000,000 bu. larger than hast year. This had no apparent effect upon

PIONEER'S SINGULAR WILL.

Eccentric Californian Wants His Ashes Cast on the Ocean. REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

San Jose, Cal., Oct. 12.—Christian Field-sted, one of California's eccentric pio-neers, who spent the latter days of his neers, who spent the neers, and his will, just of this county, died a short time since at the ripe age of 75 years, and his will, just filed in the Probate Court, contains a remarkably peculiar provision. At the time of his death he was living with his second wife, in peace and happiness, to all outward appearances. Notwithstanding this he insisted on keeping fresh the memory of his first wife, and this peculiarity did not in the least reem to disturb the serenity of his relations with his second wife.

In his will he loyally bequeaths all his property, save a few personal belongings, to the wife who survives him, and makes her one of the executors of his will, which contains the strange provision that his wife (second) in conjunction with some undertaker, cremate his body and that of his first wife at as little expense as possible and scatter the ashes of the twain on the ocean. life under his own vine in the rural quiet bust of Sidney Lanier by Keyser. The suc-cess of the movement is assured since the senior class has taken the matter in han cess of the movement is assured since the senior class has taken the matter in hand and the arrangements have been made for the raising of the necessary funds. The unveiling of the bust will take place so time toward the closing of the fall term will be a unique as well as an interest occasion. It is probable that a half, he will be given for the unveiling, and event an elaborate programme will ranged and an address will be delivere some eminent Southerner.

The setting up of this bust of one of Georgia's most distinguished sons will mean much to Georgia and the South in general, as well as to Emory College, as it is hoped that this is only the beginning of a movement to honor Southern writers.

A prize has been offered to the senior class for the best essay on the subject "Has the South Produced a Poet." This search into the writings of Southern poets as well as a good knowledge as to what poetry is according to the best authorities. A large rer cent of the members of the class have entered the contest and the result will be awaited with great interest. The prize offered will consist of a collection of standard literature of a value of 210.

These various influences will doubtless cause the Emory boys to begin a clover study of the writings of there fellow-coultymen, and will be of great benefit in causing the people of Georgia to realizathat they have a native literature unsurpassed the world over.

political influence has compelled them to do so.

One case in particular is cited, where, it is alleged, a carrier delivering mail to a hotel has been accustomed to stand around in the lobby and make stump speeches for McKinley so long as he can get listeners. It is declared that he has gone so far as to call the guests together in the parlor and figuratively hold them down while he told them the beauties of Republican policy and the desirability of keeping Mr. McKinley in power. His hearers were at first amused at the spellbinding, but inter were annoyed at the insistence of the carrier. He seemed to have no limits to his garrulity, and was ready to continue as long as a single auditor remained. gle auditor remained.
Guests of the hotel are not so much in-clined to blame the carrier as to consure the campaign bosses who inspired him.
